

Invitation to the Victorian Government's 2019 Youth Summit

The Minister for Youth, Gabrielle Williams MP invites young people between 12 and 25 to attend the Victorian Government's third annual Youth Summit on Friday 5 April 2019 as part of Victorian Youth Week.

The theme for this year's Youth Summit is 'The Future World of Work'.

Rapid global, technological, social and environmental changes are transforming the way we work, where we work and the kind of work we do.

The Youth Summit will explore these changes and the implications for young people. We'll be seeking your views on how government, business and the community can help prepare young people for the future world of work.

Featuring:

- Keynote speaker Natalie James, Chair of the Victorian Government's Inquiry into the Victorian on-demand workforce
- Expert panels and workshops
- Insights from young people who are working in new ways
- An expo showcasing information about industries, jobs and youth programs
- Performances by emerging Victorian artists.

Visit youthcentral.vic.gov.au/youthsummit to get more information, register your attendance and get copies of the consent forms.

Registrations close on Monday 1 April 2019.

Travel assistance may be available for young people travelling from rural Victoria or for young people with a disability.
